Description

When I push "do not accept" and then submit information, it registers me as a valid user! Serious problem there!

Also, less seriously, when a user enters an email that has already been entered, you get the following message:

USER CREATION ERROR!

Please review the user-related attributes that you submitted and resubmit. If you get this error again, please contact the VegBank Administrator . (with a link to email the dba)

the error message should say:

Sorry, VegBank could not register you as a user. If you have already registered in VegBank with your email address, use the Forgotten password page to have it emailed to you.

Please review the user-related attributes that you submitted and resubmit. If you get this error message again, please contact the VegBank Administrator and we will do our best to help you personally.
