Description

The first sentence says "...persons or organizations certified for the data."
I'm not sure if "certified" is a technical term for this, but if it isn't it should be changed to something more meaningful, like "responsible for" or something like that.

History

Reeves suggests the following change:

Please describe the person(s) or organization(s) certified as data 'owners'; e.g., the principal Investigator for the data collection project. Select Add to add a new owner; select Edit to modify an existing owner entry.
