| The 'open an existing package' dialog opens up too small. It cuts off the "Net" column so all you see is the local icons. It just needs to be made about 20 pixels wider. |                  |                        |            |
