Description

After adding Project information to a dp using the Morpho Editor and clicking "OK", an error message pops up saying that "Validation Problem! The saved document is not valid EML2 for some reason. You can save it locally and fix the problem later but you will be unable to submit it to the network storage system. Do you want to continue exiting the editor?" All of the required fields in the project section are filled out, so this shouldn't be invalid eml 2.

Sid discovered a hack to get around this problem. If you click "Yes" and exit the editor, and then open the Editor again, and click OK, there is no invalid eml2 message, and you can then save the dp to the network.
