Description if you put an organization name in the "other" field in the new user wizard, morpho does not actually use the name you fill in, instead it uses whatever is selected in the list box. the desired functionality is that when you click in the other field, the list box selection should be cleared and morpho should use the user entered org name.

Now it seems the "other" field was removed from the organization list. We need a mechanism to add new organization name automatically.

we're now able to refresh the list in the "new profile" dialog...and if it's not an Org that the server knows about then there's no way to log in anyway...
