Description

sometimes when you add a new port with the toolbar, the port is added in the top right corner of the workspace and the rest of the workflow is shrunk to miniscule size. there is no way to drag the port over to where the workflow is.
when the port is deleted the canvas goes back to normal size.

This is probably a ptolemy layout issue. We should deal with it if we can, but it shouldn't hold up the 1.0.0 release.

Unable to reproduce this problem with latest versions of Kepler/Ptolemy.
