Description

users will often want to move from the map of the species to that of a subspecies or visa versa. At present there is no way to do this without starting the search over. Adding links on the map page would be very helpful.

In the taxon description section on the top of the map page, parent and children concepts will be shown under the current concept with links to their maps. When clicked, a new window will open to show the map and other info of the clicked concept.
