Description
The Change profile button and the login button do not display correctly. The profile button is cut off a little on the top and the login button sits too tight against the right end of the "box".

did a local (Mac) change to explicitly set the size of the login button (50x30) and increased the profile selector height to 30 (from 20). before committing, i would like to test that on a non-Mac.
