Description When a user clicks on an assessment to view its metadata and item details on FIRST website, there is no option on the new page generated to actually add that assessment to the data cart. The user has to go back to the page that displays the list of assessments to be able to add it to the data cart, which is not that user-friendly!

That's a reasonable feature - and convenient - and shouldn't be that difficult to implement

#2 - 09/19/2009 03:16 PM - ben leinfelder

added cart buttons to the assessment screen so that you can add or remove assessments from your cart when viewing the details. not on fred yet.
