Description
Instead of selecting the report item and then clicking on the delete button, we want to remove the delete button from the top of the report designer, and put a small 'delete' button into each of the report items on the far right hand side. When clicked, this 'individual delete' button will then delete that particular report item.

History

Changed the GUI to facilitate this change, but need to revise the underlying approach in order to get this to work.

#2 - 10/06/2009 03:25 PM - debi staggs

The way that we delete report items has been changed so that the GUI now shows a small 'delete' button on the right hand side of each item. When the user clicks this button, then that item is deleted.
