Description

When a document error occurs, like if it can't be opened, saved, etc., or if there are validation or other errors, the user needs to be notified in a more user-friendly way so that they understand what happened and can respond. Currently a bunch of messages go to stderr and stdout which are cryptic.

Lowered priority because we might drop MDE and replace it with another editing solution.

#2 - 08/15/2001 09:52 AM - Dan Higgins

This problem referred to the MDE which is no longer being used. Problem is thus invalid.
